

* it is a behavioural pattern used to encapsulate a request as an object , thereby allowing for parameterization of clients with queries, requests, operations, etc.

- Command Interface : declares an execution method.
- Concrete Command : implements the execute method and binds a receiver.
- Receiver : the actual object that performs the action.
- Invoker : triggers the command.
- Client : creates and configures the command object.